MONDAY, APRIL 10, 1905.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,400

It must have been a shock to Admiral Rodjstvensky if, as reported, he first heard of the fall of Mukden as he was steaming past Singapore Saturday. A poor moral support for his coming fight with Admiral Togo.

So the churches are to be asked to further the movement for a more quiet "Fourth." And thus the attempt to bottle up young America goes on. There will be just as much trouble keeping the stopper in after he is once bottled.

Carnegie will close the last chapter of the Methodist financial story, but there are twenty-four other chapters to be written, all of the same size, one million dollars. Possibly Carnegie may fear the criticism that has hounded Rockefeller for several weeks.

In his address at the dedication of the new school building on Elm street Saturday evening the state superintendent, W. E. Ranger, gave expression to one notable fact in connection with Barre schools. That is, that the people of the city are interested in the work that is being done. This remark by Mr. Ranger was called forth by the large attendance at the dedication exercises. One cause for the large measure of success that has been maintained is this same interest, which was manifested Saturday in the large attendance.

PERMANENT ROAD BUILDING.

The meeting of Washington county road commissioners will be held at Montpelier tomorrow, and there should be a large attendance of those particularly who have charge of the road work in the various towns, although it is probable that others interested in the good roads' movement will be gladly welcomed. There is certain to be much good coming from the interchange of ideas and from the practical talks of the state commissioner and others. The good roads movement is gaining strength throughout the state, and during each year some towns see the benefits of doing the work well. Last fall the neighboring town of East Montpelier built a short strip of Telford road. That the results are satisfactory is apparent. A stretch of muddy road has been changed into a fine piece of dry, smooth thoroughfare. Before the change the road was practically impassable during the wet seasons of the years; this spring it was dry and firm almost as soon as the snow disappeared. In building it the town of East Montpelier has reflected great credit upon itself as being progressive. So well pleased are the citizens there that other work along the same line may be tried this season. And the example might well be followed by other towns of the state.

G. A. R. Number.

Grand Army Veterans and all others should read the illustrated history of the Grand Army of the Republic in the Department of Vermont, illustrated with over 40 fine half tone portrait plates of Vermont's trio of patriotic war governors, her quartette of fighting Union generals born in Vermont, and of every veteran department commander for 37 years. The Vermont, (double number), for April, contains the complete history, (the first ever published) of this grand veteran organization; sketching its origin, principles and growth and the personnel of its officers in this state.

"KEEP A PULLIN'!"

F. N. Cheney, a travelling man residing in Manchester, N. H., who frequently visits Barre, does a turn in the poetry line. This is a sample.

If the tide is running strong,

Keep a pullin'!

If the wind is blowin' wrong,

Keep a pullin'!

Taint no use to cuss and swear—

Waste your breath and rip and tear;

If it rains or if it's fair,

Keep a pullin'!

Tho' it's winter or it's May,

Keep a pullin'!

If you're in the ring to stay,

Keep a pullin'!

Tho' you can't see e'en a ray,

Sun is bound to shine some day;

Got to come, fore long way;

Keep a pullin'!

When you're sick and tired, too,

Keep a pullin'!

Nev'd 'low you're feelin' blue;

Keep a pullin'!

Ain't no good in blamin' fate

'Cause you're workin' hard and late;

Better say you feel first rate

An' keep a pullin'!

Fish don't bite just for the wishin';

Keep a pullin'!

Change your bait and go to fishin';

Keep a pullin'!

Luck ain't nailed to any spot;

Men you envy like as not

Envy you your job and lot;

Keep a pullin'!

Sympathy is just a fake;

Keep a pullin'!

No one feels it when you ache;

Keep a pullin'!

Only this is worth or while,

An' you'll find it helps a pile,

When the wind blows hard, to smile

An' keep a pullin'!

If your runner strikes bare ground,

Keep a pullin'!

Don't give up and don't go around;

Keep a pullin'!

Wouldn't give a boss his grain

If he wouldn't break a chain—

Back up prompt and pull again,

An' keep a pullin'!

'Spose you haven't got a cent;

Keep a pullin'!

Not a red to pay the rent;

Keep a pullin'!

Gettin' busted ain't no crime;

Gorry, mighty, that's the time

Grit will make a man sublime;

Keep a pullin'!

Can't fetch business with a whine;

Keep a pullin'!

Grin, and swear you're feelin' fine,

An' keep a pullin'!

Summin' up, my brother, you

Hain't no other thing to do,

Simply got to pull 'er through;

So keep pullin'!

ATTENDANCE WAS LARGE.

ly to the superintendent, whom, declared the speaker, you have honored in naming this building the Mathewson school. But, he added, in so naming it you have honored yourself more.

Congratulations from Supt. Ranger.

State Superintendent of Education Walter E. Ranger spoke next, congratulating Barre on the completion of the Mathewson school and for the efficiency of the school system. Barre has done well. One of the most inspiring things about the dedication was that so many people have attended the exercises. It appealed more strongly to him than did the building, fine as it was. It was an evidence of Barre's past record and an earnest for the future. Supt. Ranger told of the rapid strides for education in this city, saying that while a hundred years ago one per cent was required for the schools, Barre is paying sixty per cent. The city is generous with its schools and has nobly supported them. Barre is fortunate in having a large and growing population, fortunate in having a large number of children and fortunate in economy, saying that Barre's cost per capita is much less than the average.

"I am glad to honor you for your fine building here and I am glad also to think that the sentiment here shown is typical of the whole state, sturdy and steadfast." He referred to the fact that 25 schools are built and 400 repaired each year in the state, and said that the Mathewson school is one of the finest in the state. "But why stop there? You have some of the finest school buildings in the country."

"Vermont loyally supports its schools, and in this Barre has been unexcelled. Barre has had a great problem to solve in its educational system, but Barre has come forward and met the problem." He referred to the fact that some years ago the city built school houses when they were needed, and declared that if that course had not been taken the city would now be swamped with the problem of school accommodation. In closing he spoke of the needs that the boy of today requires in the educational line, as compared with the needs of fifty years ago.

Commissioner Hooker, in behalf of the teachers, thanked the guests for their attendance, and the dedication exercises closed with a benediction by the Rev. R. F. Lowe, pastor of the Methodist church.

The teachers who served on the committee of introduction were Misses Stevens, Darling, Kew, Cummings, Bailey, Mrs. Wales and Mrs. Walker. Those who served refreshments were Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Northrop, Misses Brown, Hunter, Blanchard, Burbank, Carleton, Tracy, Smith and Chandler.

Berlin University's 9,000 Students.

The year book of the German universities, just published, makes it clear that Berlin University is the most numerous attended seat of learning in the world. It contains 7,774 matriculated and 1,330 non-matriculated students. The philosophical faculty, embracing philology and natural sciences, numbers 3,752 students—medicine, 1,111; law, 4,756; and theology, despite the eminence of its professors, only 335. America sends 123 students, Africa 8, Australia 3, and Asia 37.—London Standard.

Finally Settled.

"Resolved, That the bachelor man is happier than the bachelor maid" was the subject before the Young People's Literary society at its last meeting. The subject and the fact that representatives of both sexes would discuss it attracted a large attendance. The negative won.—Elba correspondent in Richmond Times-Democrat.

NORTHFIELD.

While at work on the mill that is being erected by Clarke & Devine, L. P. Stone received a very severe sprain in the leg and foot. Four men were working on the second story boarding in the floor and the timbers broke letting all of the men down through to the ground floor. No one received serious injuries but Mr. Stone.

The new high school building has been completed and will be occupied by the high school next Monday. For the past year the kindergarten grades have been having half day sessions but will have room now in the old building, besides others of the lower grades which have had similar difficulties. The new session room will accommodate 370 pupils.

The first meeting of the license commissioners to receive applications was held Tuesday night. Six applicants were made. M. E. Yarrington, Fred Greene, J. C. Donahue, Lewis Mahan, M. Broggi and John Plunkett. The next meeting will take place tonight at the town clerk's office.

PLAINFIELD.

Freeman H. Bartlett has been appointed rural letter carrier and Addison E. Foss substitute for the new route from this office.

What Do Examinations Prove?

Few repositories of funny and witty sayings are richer than would be an extensive collection of the remarkable dicta of school children upon every subject under the sun. What could be more delightful than this:

Etc. is a sign used to make believe you know more than you do.

The youngster who wrote that required no stimulus from any pedagogue to put wit into his noddle. On the other hand, take this piece of historical characterization:

Henry VIII. was brave, corpulent and cruel, he was frequently married to a widow, and had an ulcer on his leg, and great decision of character.

This gives the poor teacher a chance to cry quits. If he is to have no credit for the brilliancy of the definer of "etc.," it is quite as certainly just that the hopelessness of the essayist on Henry VIII. should be ascribed solely to the original sin of the child capable of such an exhibition. Finally, it should be noted that there are examination answers which may be used to determine the quality of the critic of them rather than the quality of either the pupil or of the teacher. Of such is this definition of a vacuum:

A vacuum is nothing shut up in a box.

What mark should have been given to the child who gave this answer? Very high, or very low, or something between? The critic who answers this question ranks himself more certainly than he ranks the youngster.—Baltimore News.

Man With a Hobby.

Don't make fun of the man with a hobby. It may be that that very hobby will be the means of the world getting something of great good. All people that have contributed to the sum of human knowledge had a hobby once; the minister who gets up in his pulpit has his hobby; the man who sells you goods has the same. In fact, those that do anything at all have a hobby. You may call it by some other name, but the hobby is still here.—Terrell Transcript.

Comfort Powder has no equal for all skin diseases.
